(Late of New York City)

Do you wish to know what is before you? Are you making changes in business? Have you family troubles or personal disagreements? Are you worried over your affairs, and uncertain as to which way to turn? Are you in doubt as to your course? Do you wish to succeed? In fact all that relates to your welfare, be it good or bad, can tell you at a glance. There are no problems too difficult for him. He is consulted by all in trouble, for there is always a way out.

FLETCHER

Florence Marryat, the great writer, says: "Fletcher saved me serious mistakes; his words are fulfilled" Thousands say the same thing, as will you, after an interview.

"It's positively disgusting!"
"What is?"

"The way people crowd to a theatre to see an improper play. Just think! They've sold out the house for three weeks in advance!"

"How do you know?"

"I tried to purchase tickets and couldn't."

"Clarence," said the American heiress hesitatingly, "I think that you should be told at once how my father made his money. Our business men in this country have methods which to one of your pure soul, whose motto is 'Noblesse oblige,' cannot but—"

"Cease, Mamie, cease," said the young lord reassuringly, "tell me no more. However he made his millions I can forgive, for your sake. But—er—has he still got them all right?"

"It's horrid of you to get into a bad temper every time I have a letter from mamma."

"It's because I know your mother so well. She always makes people ill-able."

A New Departure In Bank Organization

THE number of women who have bank accounts at our Temple Place Office has increased so rapidly, and their business] has become of so great importance to this institution, that we have placed women Paying and Receiving Tellers on the second floor, for the greater convenience and comfort of women depositors, who may prefer to transact their banking business in rooms devoted solely to their own use.

To women depositors we offer the unusual advantages of a fully equipped banking house, in the heart of the shopping district—a banking house that has been carefully arranged throughout to meet their requirements.

NEXT ATTRACTION

JOHN DREW

in "A SINGLE MAN"

John Drew has been noted for many years as giving what might be called "drawing room plays"—perfect in production, and the delineation of a true gentleman surrounded by all the appointments that his aristocratic audiences know and love so well. And, too, he has always gathered about him a company of beautiful women. This year he has made no exception to his rule in "A Single Man," by Hubert Henry Davies, the English playwright, which he will present at the Hollis Street Theatre for the two weeks beginning January 15th. The polished gentleman is there, the beautiful women, the charming gowns, and the exquisite appointments—all are perfect.

As Robin Worthington, a writer, he is tremendously moved by the sight of the happiness of his brother and sister-in-law and their baby. It is Springtime and the fever of love enters his heart. He determines that he is lonely and must marry. Mrs. Worthington, his sister-in-law, is enchanted at the idea, and begins her schemes for matrimony. She invites an old school friend, who is quite as keen for the wedded state as Robin, down to visit her. But the best of plans sometimes miscarry. Robin has inconsiderately become engaged to a young tomboyish girl, who is obviously the last person in the world suited to be his wife. She leads him through a romping three weeks. Poor Robin sees his mistake; he can no longer be a frolicsome youth with ease and comfort. He longs for repose and quiet, and suddenly discovers that his real love is for Miss Hazeltine, his typist, a charming, intelligent woman who has worked with him for five years.

It is an awkward situation and one which teems with delightful comedy and an excellent opportunity for Mr. Drew's distinguished company.

The part of the secretary is played by Mary Boland, well known as Mr. Drew's leading woman. The cast also includes Thais Lawton, Louise Drew, Carroll McComas and others.

"I hope your novel ends happily?"
"Indeed it does. It ends in the marriage of the heroine and hero; does not go into their married life at all."

Very little escapes the eagle eye of the mischievous freshman. Down in the shipping district there was a sign on a restaurant window which ran very neatly and properly: "Shell Fish Our Specialty." The other morning the crowd landing from the ferry in passing this window noticed that three of the enamel letters had been pried off. The result was rather startling, for the sign now read: "Hell Is Our Specialty."

First Hobo—Strange how few of our youthful dreams come true, ain't it?

Second Hobo—Oh, I don't know. I remember how I once yearned to wear long pants. Now I guess I wear them longer than most any man in the country.

Gibbs—Banks married his wife because she was a good conversationalist.

Dibbs—Yes, and divorced her because she talked too much.

March—"Miss Dudelsack"	Nelson

TO LADY PATRONS.—The established rule at the Hollis St. Theatre requiring ladies to remove their hats, bonnets or other head-dress while witnessing the performance applies to all parts of the auditorium, including the boxes and loges. It is essential to the comfort and convenience of our patrons in general that this rule be strictly enforced.

Ladies who are unwilling or unable to conform to the rule are earnestly requested to leave the theatre without delay, and to receive the price of their tickets at the box office.

The Steinway, Hume, Weber, and Jewett pianos used at this Theatre exclusively are furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co., Steinert Hall, 162 Boylston Street.

The Rugs and Draperies used for Stage Decorations supplied by the Morse Furniture Co., 827 Washington Street.

The Modern Furniture used for Stage Decorations supplied from the celebrated warerooms of Charles E. Osgood Co., 744-756 Washington St., Boston.

Electric Lighting Fixtures and Fire Place Furnishings for this Theatre and stage settings furnished by McKenney & Waterbury Co., 181 Franklin St., corner Congress.

The Clocks and Candelabra used in this Theatre are furnished by Nelson H. Brown, 70 Franklin Street.

The Silverware used in this Theatre furnished by Woodman-Cook Co., 364 Washington Street.

Perfect Sanitary conditions are maintained in this Theatre by use of Chloro-Naphtholeum and the Automatic Appliances of the West Disinfecting Company, Boston, Mass.

The China and Glassware used in this Theatre furnished by M. P. White, 151-153 Eliot Street.

The Willow and Rattan Furniture used on the Stage furnished by the Bailie Basket Co., 82 Sudbury Street.

Antique Furniture supplied by Pemberton Sales Co., 272 Boylston St.

Underwood Standard Typewriter, "The Machine You Will Eventually Buy," is used in this Theatre.

The Caller—Do you need any typewriter supplies, sir?

The Guvnor—Typewriter supplies? No. I've only just bought her a box of chocolates!

"The post office department is conducted at a financial loss."

"Yes; but Uncle Sam's engraving plant makes plenty of money."

Student—Do you charge for the water in the coffee?

Restaurantkeeper—That, of course, is thrown in.

He—Do you know, an awful lot of women chased after me before I was married.

She—They must have been an awful lot.

Mrs. Wiggins had "run in" for a minute to talk over the latest news of the village with her friend, Mrs. Hopkins.

"I'll bring some frosted cake," says another.

"I'll fetch some jelly and cookies," says somebody else, and so it went on until we had most everything we could eat promised. Then one of the boys who had no sisters said he would bring the coffee. That gave Silas his chance. He'd been sitting by, listening to it all, and now he spoke up real brisk, and says he:

"I'll bring the water for the coffee!"

Gomer Davis was riding on the Central Branch the other day when a very loquacious individual sat down beside him and began bombarding him with questions. Gomer got very tired of his talkative friend, but did not complain. Finally the fellow looked down and noticed that Gomer had a wooden leg.

"How did you lose your leg?" he asked.
"I will tell you upon one condition," said Gomer.

"What is it?"

"That you will not ask me another question."

"All right."

"It was bitten off."

This aroused the curiosity of the questioner a great deal, but he made his word good and asked no further questions.

"I bet," said Gomer, "that that fellow has lost a lot of sleep since then wondering what sort of an animal bit that leg off."

She—A person is an idiot to bother a lot about his descent. Don't you think so?

so? He—Yes; unless he happens to be an aviator up in the air.
